FROM WASHINGTON.

Louisiana Complications--Spofford and Eustis hold the Trumps--Charges Against Collector Worthington--Boston Gales Superintendent of House Folding Room.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—It is asserted that Democratic Senators will be guided in their action upon the President's nomomination for Louisiana officers by the advice of Senators Spofford and Eustis. It is ascertained that these gentlemen have not yet made known their views. It is known that the President's nominations cannot be confirmed without Democratic votes, and in this view of the case it is expected the President's Republican friends will favor the admission of Spofford and Eustis. The situation is curiously complicated. It seems certain that King must make himself acceptable to Spofford and Eustis, to retain his place.

It is said that formal charges have been made against Collector Worthington, of Charleston, but no information is vouchsafed from the Department.

Seaton Gales, of North Carolina, was appointed Superintendent of the House folding room. Mr. Gales is a son of the late Joseph Gales, one of the proprietors of the old National Intelligencer, of this city.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

The House after the struggle for the precedence, the case of Rainey of South Carolina was taken up when Mr. Cox sent to the chair papers from Gov. Hampton to be read. The committee appointed by the Republican caucus yesterday to contest the roll of Clerk Adams are on the qui vive, and proceedings in each case will be long. Ben Butler was selected to manage the case of Darrall of Louisiana. Darrall has certificates from Kellogg and Nichols, is on the clerk's roll and has received pay to date. Butler thinks he has a good case Hale has charge of Rainey's case, making a set speech.

In the Senate during the morning hour a large number of bills and petitions were presented and referred to appropriate committees, among the petitions were many from various parts of the country in favor of increasing the compensation of letter carriers. Among the bills introduced was one by Mr. Beck of Kentucky, for the removal of all disabilities imposed by the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, referred to committee on judiciary. The Senate at 12.35, on motion of Mr. Edmunds, took recess until 1.15 p. m.

FRANCE.

Result of the Election---Strength of Parties.

PARIS, October 16.—Among the prominent Bonapartists elected is Robert Mitchell, and among those defeated are M. De Maupas and Prince D'Arenusburg.

Both parties are dissatisfied.

The new Chamber will consist of 330 Republicans and 210 Conservatives. With this strength it is thought the Conservatives can control on compromise.

The result of the election is unknown yet. Rappel claims that 524 elections give 317 seats to the Republicans and 197 to the MacMahonists, and that 10 second ballots will be required.

Several Republican papers speak of the investigation the elections must undergo in the Chamber. The Siecle urges the Chamber to use unsparing justice in this respect.

NOON—Complete returns, except from hecolonies, show that 314 Republicans and 201 Conservatives have been elected 14 second ballots will be necessary. The Conservatives retain 14 seats of the 158 held by them in the late Chamber; the Republicans retain 297 seats of the 363 members who voted for the order of the day censuring dissolution of the Chamber.

EASTERN AFFAIRS.

Russian Preparations for the Winter Campaign--The Russians Attack Sulima--News of the French Election at Berlin.

LONDON, October 16.—A correspondent of the Times at Sistova gives a favorable account of the Russian preparations for the winter campaign. They have vast stores laid in at the depots along the roads, but mud is frightful on the road two miles south of Simnitza bridge, it takes eight horses, and twenty men pushing behind, to get a light wagon through. The railway from Fratesti to Simnitza is progressing rapidly.

A Times' special from Rapia states the Porte has received intelligence that the Russians have attacked Sulima and destroyed part of the town, but were beaten off.

The Daily News' despatch from Berlin says that reports of a Republican victory in France are received with satisfaction and even relief by all except Ultramontanes and Socialists as a triumph of peace.

NIGHT DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON.

Message of President Hayes to Congress.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 16.—Fellow-Citizens and Senate and House of Representatives: The adjournment of last Congress without making appropriations for the support of the army for the present fiscal year has rendered necessary the suspension of payments to the officers and men of sums due them for services rendered after the 30th day of June last. The army exists by virtue of statutes, which prescribe its numbers, regulate its organization and employment, and which fix the pay of its officers and men, and declare their right to receive the same at stated periods. These statutes, however, do not authorize the payment of troops in the absence of specific appropriations therefor. The Constitution has wisely provided that no money shall be drawn from the Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law, and it has also been declared by statute that no department of the government shall expand in any one fiscal year a sum in excess of the appropriations made by Congress for that fiscal year. We have, therefore, an army in service authorized by law, and is entitled to be paid, but no funds are available for that purpose. It may also be said as an additional incentive to prompt action by Congress, that since the commencement of the fiscal year the army, though without pay, has been constantly and actively employed in arduous and dangerous service, in the performance of which both officers and men have discharged their duty with fidelity and courage, and without complaint. These circumstances, in my judgment, constitute an extraordinary occasion, requiring that Congress be convened in advance of the time prescribed by law for your meeting in regular session. The importance of speedy action upon this subject on the part of Congress is so manifest that I venture to suggest the propriety of making the necessary appropriations for the support of the army for the current year, as its present maximum numerical strength of 25,000 men, leaving for future consideration all questions relating to an increase or decrease of the number of enlisted men. In the event of a reduction of the army by subsequent legislation during the fiscal year, the excess of appropriation would not be expended; and in the event of its enlargement the additional sum required for the payment of extra force could be provided in due time. It would be unjust to the troops now in service, and whose pay is already largely in arrears, if payment to them should be further postponed until after Congress shall have considered all questions likely to arise in the effort to fix the proper limit to the strength of the army. The estimates of appropriations for the support of the military establishment for the fiscal year ending July 30th, 1878, were transmitted to Congress by the former Secretary of the Treasury at the opening of its session in December last. These estimates were modified by the present Secretary so as to conform to the present requirements, and are now renewed, amounting to $3,243,676,498; and having been transmitted to both Houses of Congress are submitted for your consideration. There is also required by the Navy Department $2,003,861 27. This sum is made up of 1,446,687.16. Due to the officers and enlisted men for the last quarter of the last fiscal year $31,195,350; due for the advances made by Fiscal Agent of the Government in London for the support of Foreign Service $50,000; due to naval and hospital fund $150,000; due for arreages of pay to officers and $4,521,958 for the support of the marine corps. There will also be needed an apropriation of 26,253,522, to defray unsettled expenses of the United States Court for the fiscal year ending June 30th, last, now due to Attorneys, Clerks, Commissioners and Marshals, and for rent of Court Rooms, for support of prisoners and other deficiencies. Part of the building of the Interior Department was destroyed by fire on the 24th of last month, and some immediate repairs and temporary structures have in consequence become necessary, estimates for which will be transmitted to Congress immediately, and an appropriation of requisite funds is respectfully recommended. The Secretary of the Treasury will communicate to Congress, in connection with estimates for appropriations for the support of the army for the current fiscal year, estimates for such other deficiencies in different branches of the public service as require immediate action and cannot without inconvenience be postponed until the regular session.

I take this opportunity, also, to invite your attention to the propriety of adopting at your present session necessary legislation to enable the people of the United States to participate in the advantanges of the international exhibition of agriculture, industry and fine arts, which is to be held at Paris in 1878, and in which this government has been invited by the government of France to take part. This invitation was communicated to this government in May, 1876, by the Minister of France at this capital, and copy thereof submitted to proper committees of Congress at its last session, but no action was taken upon the subject. The Department of State has received many letters from various parts of the country expressing a desire to participate in an exhibition, and numerous applications of a similar nature have also been made at the United States legation at Paris. The Department of State has also received official advices of a strong desire on the part of the French government that the United States should participate in this enterprise, and space has hitherto been, and still is, reserved in the Exhibition buildings for the use of exhibitions from the United States, to the exclusion of other parties who have been applicants therefor. In order that our industries may be properly represented at the exhibition, appropriations will be needed for the payment of salaries and expenses of commissioners, for transportation of goods, and for other purposes in connection with the object in view; and as May next is the time fixed for the opening of an exhibition. If our citizens are to share the advantages of this international competition for the trade of other nations, the necessity of immediate action is apparent to enable the United States to co-operate in the international exhibition which was held at Vienna in 1873. Congress then passed a joint resolution making an appropriation for $200,000, and authorizing the President to appoint a certain number of artisans and scientific men who should attend the exhibition and report their proceedings and observations to him. Provision was also made for the appointment of a number of honorary commissioners. I have felt that the prompt action by Congress in accepting the invitation of the Government of France is of so much interest to the people of this country, and so suitable to the cordial relations between the governments of the two countries, that the subject might properly be presented for attention at your present session. The Government of Sweden and Norway have addressed an official invitation to this Government to take part in the International Prison Congress, to be held at Stockholm next year. The problem which the Congress proposes to study, is how to diminish crime, which is one in which all civilized nations have an interest in common, and the Congress of Stockholm seems likely to prove one of the most important conventions ever held for the study of this grave question. Under authority of a joint resolution that Congress approved February 16th, 1875, a Commissioner was appointed by my predecessor to represent the United States upon that occasion, and Prison Congress having been at earnest desire, the Swedish government was postponed to 1878, and his commission was renewed by me. An appropriation of $80,000 was made in the sundry civil service act of 1875 to meet the expenses of the commissioner. I recommend a re-appropriation of that sum for the same purpose of the former appropriation, having been covered into the Treasury, and being no longer available for the purpose without further action by Congress. The subject is brought to your attention at this time in view of circumstances which render it highly desirable that the Commissioner should proceed to the discharge of his important duties immediately, as several acts of Congress providing for detailed reports from the different departments of the government require their submission at the regular annual session. I defer until that time any further reference to subjects of public interest.

(Signed), R. B. HAYES.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The Democratic caucus of Senators to-day resolved to wait for indications of what the Republicans intended to do regarding the Senators from Louisiana and South Carolina, before adopting a line of action

The Republican Senators caucussed on the committees.

In the House, the question as to swearing in two South Carolina members, Rainey and Cain, occupied the attention of the House for nearly three hours. Finally they and also Darrall of Louisiana were sworn in. The case of Elam was discussed but do result reached. The President's message was read and referred to the Committee of the Whole.

A Senate resolution continuing the Committees of last session until further orders were adopted. Beck introduced a bill looking to repeal of the iron-clad oath. Bailey of Tennessee presented a petition from the Southern Methodist Publishing House for the restoration of its property, or equivalent, taken in 1864; referred to the Committee on Claims.

The citizens generally, and ladies especially, are cordially invited to attend.

A meeting will also take place tonight in the Senate Chamber, of the correspondents of the State Department of Agriculture.

The House of Bishops at Boston has adopted a canon for the organization of a sisterhood of Deaconesses, and the House of Deputies tabled a resolution approving the movement in England, severing church and State.

Poetical Old Bachelors.

Corneille, Racine and Boileau were all poetical old bachelors. Gray was, in every sense, real and poetical, a cold, fastidious old bachelor, at once shy and proud, sensitive and selfish. In looking through his memoirs, letters and poems, we cannot find one indication that he was ever under the influence of woman. He loved his mother, and was dutiful to two tiresome old aunts who thought poetry one of the seven deadly sins. His learning was entombed with him. His genius survives in his elegy and odes. What became of his heart we know not. He might well moralize on his bachelorship, and call himself a "solitary fly." Collins was never a lover, and never married. He is reported to have been once in love, and as the lady was one day older than himself, he used to say, jestingly, that "he came into the world a day after the fair." He wrote an ode on the Passions, in which, after dwelling on hope, fear, despair and pity, he dismisses love with a couple of lines. Such was Collins' idea of love. Goldsmith died unmarried. Shenstone was not formed to captivate; his person was clumsy, and his manners disagreeable. He never gave the lady who supposed herself to be the object of his serious pursuit an opportunity of accepting or rejecting him. He died unmarried.

President Buchanan and Hon. Jacob Thompson's Mission to North Carolina in 1861.

[N. Y. Sun.]

Editors Sun: In the Sun of the 29th ulto., there appears an article headed, "A contribution to history," containing an extract from a recent publication of Hon. Thos. L. Clingman relative to the mission of Hon. Jacob Thompson, then Secretary of the Interior, to the State of North Carolina" to get that State to secede." In reading the extract referred to, with the reply of Mr. Thompson, with my own information on the subject in dispute, I could not but recall a remark of Tacitus, (Annals, B. III.) "A cloud forever hangs over the most important transactions, while, on the one hand, credulity adopts for fact, the report of the day; and on the other politicians warp and disguise the truth; between both parties two different accounts go down from age to age, and gain strength with posterity."

I happened to be in public service at the period referred to and, although not a Democrat, on intimate relations with Mr. Thompson, my superior officer, and as my testimony on this question was given before the judiciary committee of the House of Representatives in Jan. 1863, while I was yet in office, during Mr. Lincoln's administration, and during the lifetime of Mr. Buchanan, who, in subsequent conversations at his own house, confirmed all I testified to as to the object of Mr. Thompson's mission, my representations may not be altogether unimportant. Mr. Buchanan assured me that he viewed Mr. Thompson's mission as in the interests of peace, and had for its special object the effort to prevent North Carolina from imitating the precipitate measures adopted by South Carolina.

Mr. Buchanan was as much opposed to the secession of any State or States as was Mr. Lincoln, and his love for the Union was no less. That, however, is not the subject in question. While I am aware of its being one to which the quoted sentiment of Tacitus applies with peculiar significance, while another of his—"posteritas suum cuique rependit"—supplies words of consolation to many unjustly aspersed public men. Mr. Thompson, as will appear in my testimony, (House Report, No. 19, third session, 37th Congress,) about the 15th December, 1860, sent for me to come to his office, informed me that he had the previous day received a commission from the Governor of Mississippi which authorized him to confer personally with the Legislature and public men of North Carolina; that he had expressed his views to Mr. Buchanan, who did not object to his executing the trust, but at the same time Mr. Thompson—now living to deny if I err—expressed in the strongest possible terms his opposition to State secession. In rather bitter language he censured the action of South Carolina, and I know that many weeks after this interview he telegraphed Longstreet at Charleston: "For God's sake prevent collision." And here, parenthetically, any subsequent attitude of Mr. Thompson has nothing to do with the opinions he entertained and expressed in December, January or February of that period, and should not influence candid men in their judgments of his superior, equal or subordinate official, who could not but respect his moral as they did his official integrity, latterly so grossly maligned. I have reason to believe that Mr. Thompson, at the period alluded to, earnestly deprecated State action, and for the reason that he believed all our difficulties could be settled amicably if the other Southern States would abstain from adopting the example of South Carolina, every initiation of which, in his opinion, would tend to aggravate the [illegible] confusion at the South, and the common danger.

Mr. Thompson may have thought and probably did feel that the proper course for the Southern States would be to ignore hasty and separate action, but to propose under certain contingencies for a convention which should recommend some future course of procedure according to circumstances. Had such a policy been adopted we would probably have escaped civil war. That Mr. Clingman intentionally misrepresents Mr. Thompson I cannot credit, but his statements show how easily in times of great excitement even honest-minded public men may be misled in their search for truth. Although I did not in many things at that time agree with Mr. Thompson, I enjoyed his friendship and confidence, and while he was my superior officer was cognizant of very active and far-reaching measures which were being prosecuted under my direction to influence the Southern people in adherence to the Union. Mr. Thompson and Mr. Buchanan knew that some twenty clerks were nightly employed in this work, in which Andrew Johnson, Gilmer of North Carolina, Millson of Virginia, and other patriotic Southern Union men participated. Although I enjoyed the confidence of Mr. Lincoln, as well as that of Mr. Thompson's successors in the Interior, and with whom I co-operated in whig times, it was not a confidence gained by uniting with those whose patriotism had no better proof of its reality than what was to be inferred from their abuse of better men. Those who survive know my opinion was expressed then as now.

Archives of the Southern Confederacy.

[Chicago Times.]

In his report to Congress Secretary McCrary will include a review of the condition of the work of compiling the archives of the Southern Confederacy. Six thousand dollars were appropriated last winter for the pay of the clerks engaged in this work. The object of the compilation and classification is to have the archives published as public documents. The work of preparing them is about half completed. It is in charge of Adjutant General Townsend. In 1865 General Townsend set out from Washington to Charleston, and from there suggested to Secretary Stanton the necessity and importance of collecting all the rebel documents for future record and preservation. Secretary Stanton authorized General Townsend to make the collections in his department, and instructed General Halleck, at Richmond, at the same time to gather all that he could at that place. The result was that a great mass of material has been forwarded to Washington for safe-keeping. At first work was begun upon the documents to classify them for historical uses only. Afterward the work of classifying them was intrusted to Gen. Townsend, who has had charge of the work ever since. He has not discarded any of the papers, but has merely classified them. The manner of procedure at present is to print all the documents examined for the convenience of the examiner, who can handle and classify them much better in proof slips. He then pastes them together according to their classification. They will be sent into Congress in this shape, where it will depend upon that body to what extent they will be published for public benefit. These archives are of the same use to the Government in detecting fraudulent claims as are the Union archives against Northern claimants. Gen. Townsend says that the rebel archives captured furnished the testimony that was absolutely necessary to secure the Alabama award namely, that the Alabama was fitted out by British merchants. It was also shown by these same records that the vessel was manned by English sailors. In this one case alone millions of dollars were saved to this Government. Numerous applications have been made by the Southern States to have these records restored to them, but thus far the Government has refused to give them up. Now that Congress is getting to have so large a Southern element in it, it is feared that there will be an attempt made to get these archives away. The best method to avoid this is publication. The presence of these records has been very obnoxious to a certain class of Southern claim agents. The authorities have all along used these records to aid them in establishing the question of the loyalty or disloyalty of the claimants. This has, however, been only an incidental use of these records, whose main value in the time to come will be historical. The publication of them in the Congressional documents will place them at the disposal of every student in the country.

The Grangers and the Railroads.

In another of the "Granger" cases, this time dealing with the law of Wisconsin, the Supreme Court of the United States has decided that the Legislature has power to provide by law for maximum charges of fare and freight by the railroads within the State. Says the Chief Justice: "With the people of Wisconsin this company has domestic relations. Incidentally these may reach beyond the State. But certainly until Congress legislates for those who are without the State, Wisconsin may provide for those within, even though it may indirectly affect those without. If the question ever arises whether the company can be compelled to continue its business at the prices fixed, it will be time enough for us to pass upon it when it reaches here in due course of proceeding. It is not here now."

What They Think of Death in Deadwood.

As I was resting in a camp on the outskirts of Deadwood, a jolly-faced man came along and asked for a job. He was told that every man was working for himself and making mighty poor wages at that, when he replied: 'Gentlemen, I haven't had one good meal in three weeks; I haven't been able to get a day's work; I'm dead broke, and the curtain is going to ring down on this tragedy right here and right now!"

He stamped around the fire, pulled a revolver from a miner's belt, and then, retreating back a pace or two, he said: "Gentlemen, I'm going! I've starved around the Black Hills for three months, and if there is any worse place than this I'm anxious to see it. Excuse me for wasting ammunition, but here I go—" and put the muzzle of the revolver to his head and never kicked after the shot. No man rose to restrain him. Two minutes later the owner of the revolver walked over and procured it, first wiping a spot of blood off the barrel he growled out:

"Blast his eyes! Why didn't he jump over some cliff, or go out and let the Indians tickle him to death."—Deadwood Letter.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

The Richmond Enquirer says that perhaps the Ohio clerks who went home to vote voted the Democratic ticket.

Two Tennessee men swapped wives the other day, and were well pleased, but officers of the law broke up the arrangement.

R. W. Baylor, Esq., of Norfolk, has become the proprietor of the Enquirer. May its future be prosperous and its final demise be indefinitely postponed.

Hon. Washington Leonidas Grice is the new Circuit Judge in the Macon District, Georgia, he having been appointed in the place of Judge Hill, who died on the bench at Knoxville a few days ago.

The Galveston (Texas) News calls for a large appropriation for the construction of defensive works on the coast of that State. It asserts that the whole coast of the Gulf west of the Mississippi is at the mercy of any enemy prepared to assail it from the sea.

Atlanta's offer to Georgia is, if she is selected as the permanent capital, to give the State any 10 acres of unoccupied ground in or near the city, or the City Hall lot of five acres in the heart of the city, and to build a capitol as fine as the one at Milledgeville.

Ned Gaulsby, colored has been arrested for burglary at Atlanta, and on looking up his record it was found that he owed the State some service—156 years of it, in fact, having four times escaped from jail—namely, when sentenced to a ninety-nine years' term for murder, and three terms of twenty years each, for a homicide and two burglaries.

The State Board of Immigration in Virginia has just published a book of 300 pages that gives a thorough description of the soil, climate, products, and present social condition of the State It is sent on application to all who desire information with a view of settling in the State. Virginia is preparing to lead her sister States in inviting immigration.

Ex-Judge Dick Busteed, who left Alabama a short time ago under the impetus of a threatened impeachment, despairs of the republic. He writes from New York to a friend in Alabama that he has "long believed that our form of government is illusive and unsubstantial," that "Hayes has annihilated Republicanism," and that the "grand old party" is now in its grave.

In reply to a question whether any holders of undisputed Arkansas bonds have accepted what is known as the Adams proposition, and deposited their bonds, the Little Rock Gazette says: "The Bank of Washington, which holds $80,000 funded 6 per cent. bonds and $22,000 unfunded 5 per cents, has deposited them according to contract. We understand that this bank holds no other Arkansas securities."

STATE NEWS.

The Goldsboro Messenger says, there are no further developments in the Mrs. Thompson murder case. Wait Thompson is in jail.

Wm. H. Rogers of Orange, who removed to Tennessee after the war, has returned to his old home, and will locate at Durham.

Richard M. Pearson, Jr., son of Chief Justice Pearson, has gone to St. Louis to practice law with an old college mate who guarantees him an income of $4,000 a year.

Says the Southern Home, nearly every editor in the State represents his paper as having the largest circulation of any other. To use plain English, there is a lie out somewhere.

A negro man was killed last week by jumping from the train on the western division of the C. C. railroad while in motion. He fell under the wheels and was crushed to death instantly.

It is something singular, says a Charlotte paper, but not an appeal has been taken from the decisions of the Inferior Court, that has just adjourned. The lawyers have confidence in the justice of the decisions.

Over one hundred have made a profession of religion at the Calvary Mission Chapel in this city, says the Charlotte Southern Home, and about fifty have joined the church. This list embraces many who have heretofore led the most abandoned lives.

Southern Home: Mr. Jos. Rumple, when returning home from town a few weeks ago, was thrown from his buggy by his mule taking fright and received such painful bruises that he was confined to his house for some days. He has now nearly recovered from the fall.

Rev. S. S. Murkland of Bethany, near Statesville, has had his tongue, left arm and left leg partially paralyzed. He is, at present, very feeble, but it is thought he will recover. He is a Presbyterian divine of Scotch honesty, and has conducted a large colored school and church ever since the war.

Newbern Nutshell: We learn that the large and commodious residence of J. G. Cox, in Kinston, caught fire about nine o'clock Friday night, from a defective flue in one of the chimneys, and was totally consumed. The house was occupied at the time by the owner and was also used for Prof. Midyett's Seminary. The property is said to be fully insured.

Lenoir Topic: Mr. W. H. H. Hartley informs us that on Tuesday last, while working in his cornfield, his dog, in a most frightened manner, suddenly jumped up, and retreated backwards, and, Mr. H. says, "with his hair turned the wrong way." On investigation, Mr. H. discovered that his dog had encountered an enormous rattlesnake. The snake was killed by Mr. H., and measured five feet in length and nine inches round, with eighteen rattles, each rattle one inch broad.

Newbern Nutshell: Mr. Oliver S. Dewey, a highly respected citizen of this place, was stricken with apoplexy on one of our streets yesterday. A friend being with him at the time, assistance was immediately procured and Mr. Dewey removed to his residence, where, after the lapse of about two hours, during which time, a copious amount of blood was drawn from him, ice applied to his forehead, mustard plasters used on his body and other medical treatment administered by two eminent physicians, he opened his eyes in consciousness, with all his faculties restored, to the delight of his many friends who were standing around his bed side.

HOW TO RESTORE NORTH CAROLINA TO ITS OLD RANK.

Until 1830 North Carolina ranked fourth among the States of the Union. To-day it stands far down the list of States in population and wealth, and in education. How far below the States of which it was once the peer we are unwilling to say. It is sad enough to know the fact that we have retrograded since 1830, in comparison with other States. While we regret this, we do not repine. Nor will we waste time in considering the causes of our comparative decadence. It is sufficient to know that it is so, without inquiring into the whys and the wherefores. The living question that concerns us now, is this: Can North Carolina be restored to its original position in the Union? Can she again go to the front rank, and lift her head proudly among the proudest? We believe she can. How? it will be asked. Let us see.

Our resources are certainly capable of such development as shall restore the State to its old rank. No one familiar with the climate of North Carolina, the varied products of our soil, and our inexhaustible mineral riches can doubt this. Look abroard over the State. What do we behold? Nature contributing her choicest gifts with lavish hand; the soil yielding abundantly; wheat, corn, rye, and other cereals, the bread of life, growing in luxuriance; tobacco and cotton, the great money-producing crops, thriving wherever cultivated; and rice and flax yielding such profits as make us wonder they are not more largely grown.

Nor is this all. Our natural resources are not confined to the products of the field. In cattle and sheep-raising the capacity of the State is second to but few in the Union. A vast revenue could be brought within our borders by devotion to this line of industry. We have magnificent grazing lands in the east and in the west. We have more than twelve million acres of the finest timber in the world. Hickory, oak, maple, ash, walnut, cherry, pine and spruce are the natural growths of our forests, whose timber products are admitted to be unexcelled in the Union. Then, there is our water-power, abounding in all parts of the State, except the coast division, and constituting a grand, inexhaustible, eternal staple source of wealth. According to the census of 1870, this water-power sustained 3,642 manufacturing establishments. It is capable of sustaining a hundred times as many. Our power in this direction is almost incalculable. Competent judges have asserted that the water-power of North Carolina is sufficient to turn all the machinery in the world. It is boundless, illimitable, unmeasurable; to be convinced of which, one need but follow the meanderings of the Roanoke, the Tar, the Neuse, the Deep, the Haw, the Yadkin, the Dan, the Catawba, the Broad, the French Broad, and other minor streams that flow down from the mountains.

Yet more. Our mountains and valleys abound in iron, coal, copper, lead, zinc, mica, silver and gold. Immense coal beds lie untouched in our midst. More than eighty gold mines have been opened, and we have as yet but a glimpse of our auriferous riches. It would be impossible to make even a rough guess at the vast amount of iron ore imbedded in the mountain region; while there are unnumbered fields of mica still lying in the original state, awaiting the magic touch of enterprise and capital.

Now to restore North Carolina to her old rank in the Union, we need but to develope these resources, removing as far as practicable the depressing influences left us a legacy of the past. How can our resources be developed? We haven't the money to do it with. Where in North Carolina can funds be raised for working mines, building factories, and getting our timber to market? The necessary capital is not to be had within our borders. We were exhausted by the war and the disastrous years succeeding it. We are still an impoverished people. Decades of years may pass before we can, of our own innate energies, produce the capital necessary to the development of our varied resources. We are compelled, then, if we would secure our lost position in the Union, to look to other States and countries for the needful capital to unlock our riches and enable us to profit by them. We must pursue such a course in the future as will attract immigration and capital toward our domain, which is so grandly and beautifully diversified, and so rich in hidden treasure of all kinds. When capital, whether northern or foreign, seeks investment in our various natural industries—our fields, forests, mines and water-powers—we may look for such an advancement in our wealth and population as will restore North Carolina to her original rank among the States of the Union. Until moneyed men do come to aid us in developing our resources, these sources of wealth and power will lie dormant, and we will strive in vain to regain the relative position which we occupied in 1830.

SOMETHING SAID AT A FAIR.

In the address of welcome delivered by Hon. John Richie at the Frederick County, (Md.,) Fair, occurred this striking passage:

"Probably, Mr. President, your first reflection as you contemplate this landscape, is how marked the contrast between the circumstances that attended your former presence on our soil and those which now surround you. Then you came as a soldier. The tread of contending armies shook the earth, carnage and desolation ruled the scene. The heights of yonder mountain, which now broods so serenely o'er this peaceful valley, were flamed into volcanic aspect by the belching fires of opposing artillery. Down the side of that very mountain your own form was carried, prostrate and bleeding, from the battle that raged across it, and under its shadow you were nursed by the gentle hands of our own people to health and vigor again."

There could hardly have been selected a more fitting scene for the illustration of the principle of Reconciliation, which, to the honor of the Democratic party, has at last triumphed, notwithstanding the begrudging support of the cause rendered by those of the South who feed on the prejudices and hatreds of the war, and those of the North who use its bloody memories for inflaming the popular heart. Civil wars come and go, and reconciliation between the estranged parties inevitably and invariably take place. England has been rent in twain by intestine conflicts. What would we think of that people if the enmities engendered by the wars of the Roses, for instance, were still cherished and brooded over? We have waged war with Great Britain, but reconciliation, full and complete, has long since taken place. People who speak the same mother tongue are like the children of neighboring households. The fathers may quarrel and fight, but the sons and daughters will forgive and forget. It is humane to do so. Estrangements between men of the same nationality cannot last forever. We rejoice at every evidence of returning friendship between the North and South. The soldiers who followed the two flags can do more towards bringing about the perfect day of reconciliation than any other class of persons. Those who strike the hardest blows are ever the readiest to smoke the pipe of peace.

"A brave man knows no malice but at once
Forgets in peace the injuries of war,
And gives his direst foe a friend's embrace."

THE SOUTH SHOULD ASSERT ITSELF.

The Washington Critic makes the following sensible remarks on the present strength of parties: The South, before the war, was the stronghold of the Democratic party; and it is even now more so than formerly. Republicanism is far stronger in the Northern States than Whigism ever was; while on the other hand Republicanism in the Southern States is now hors de combat; and Democracy in that quarter is all powerful. In this state of things, there is no reason why Southern Democrats should remain in the background. They are not behind their Northern compeers in talent, nor in patriotism; and we believe that Northern Republicans now have quite as much confidence in Southern as in Northern Democrats. The rebellion was a thing of the past century of the Republic. The States are equal in rights, and the people are equal. We think that henceforth, the influence of the South upon the Administration of the Government will be wholesome. A degree of self-assertion is essential to every State and section; and the South ought to make its influence felt.

Why Chamberlain has not been Indicted.

The Charleston News and Courier says the story that Chamberlain has been the subject of an "arrangement" whereby he was guaranteed immunity for his offenses is not true. The evidence in Chamberlain's case is cumulative, notwithstanding his profession of entire innocence in a recent interview in New York. The News and Courier says:

"The public mind is pretty well made up. At the bar of public opinion Mr. Chamberlain has been arraigned and condemned. But evidence such as will satisfy the public is not necessarily such as will convince a jury of twelve respectable citizens, who hear both sides fully and have before them no testimony save what is strictly competent. In a trial by newspaper, the advantage is with the accuser; in a trial by jury the advantage is with the accused. The State can not afford to take a false step, or to go into court unprepared. In this lies the whole explanation of the failure to indict Mr. Chamberlain last month. When the State is ready Mr. Chamberlain will be invited to visit Columbia, and he has promised that he will go.

"This is the plain truth, and it is due to the State government that it be made known. Mr. Chamberlain is the last person living with whom the people of South Carolina would make terms."

Composition of the Senate.

The United States Senate promises to come within one vote of being Democratic at the special session, counting with the Republicans Messrs. Booth, of California, and Davis, of Illinois. The roll foots up forty Republicans to thirty-three Democrats. Messrs. Sharon, of Nevada, and Morton will not be present, and Patterson, of South Carolina, will probably be unavoidably absent, or at present will not vote, it is said, while under indictment. This would reduce the Republican vote to thirty-seven. If the three Democratic contestants are admitted, as they probably will be, the Democratic vote is increased to thirty-six, leaving the Republicans in a majority of one. Senator Booth, it is said, will vote to displace Secretary Gorham, who has been so thoroughly repudiated in the defeat of the Sargent-Page ring in California, and it is not impossible that the December session will open with a complete change in the officers of the Senate. It is only in case of a tie that the Vice President votes.

VEGETINE

The Following Approved Statement Speaks for Itself.

BOSTON, March 23, 1874.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir:—A few days after the Fourth of July last I got my leg hurt by a fellow working in getting a load of hay, which struck me on the knee. For four months following I was under the treatment of physicians at the Dispensary, at the end of which time they told me they could nothing more for me, and that I must go to the hospital and have my leg amputated above the knee. I was removed to the hospital, and lay there ten weeks under the treatment of the best skill the hospital afforded, and no pen can tell the suffering I endured. My leg was swollen to nearly the size of my body, and all the surface of my knee turned black, and I was told that my knee was so diseased as to render it impossible to save my leg, and unless it was amputated soon I would die. When I first went to the hospital, I raised such an objection to the amputation of my leg, they consented to try one alternative, which was to cut out all the diseased flesh and replace it with sound flesh from the other leg. They did cut six pieces from my well leg, and place it where the diseased flesh had been removed; but the bone was so much diseased that this experiment proved a failure, and I was removed to my home in a hopeless condition. Our physicians were then employed until all the money which I had saved from my earnings had been expended, and one thing after another disposed of to pay doctor's bills until my family was in a destitute condition, with no hope for myself except of death. At this time Mr. Hill, the police office in my street, called in to see me, and, after rendering pecuniary assistance to my family, brought some Vegetine for me, urging me to give it a faithful trial, saying when those two bottles were gone he would see that I had some more. After I had been taking the Vegetine three days the ulcers in my knee commenced to discharge, and I cannot begin to describe the frightful quantity that was discharged during the following eight days; and though previously I had suffered indescribable pain, rendering sleep impossible, after taking the Vegetine three days the pain all left me, and my whole complaint seemed to be pouring out of me with this corrupted matter. The Vegetine was not only forcing disease from me, but it gave me strength from day to day. When I commenced on the fourth bottle of Vegetine the swelling had all left my leg, and the sore which covered the whole surface of my knee commenced to heal next to the bone. I am now on the sixth bottle; the sore is entirely healed, and my health so improved as to enable me to walk all over town. The Vegetine has saved my life. It has cured my leg, and restored me to health: my knee bears the marks of my great suffering, and it will always afford me pleasure to show the proof of what this good medicine has done for me.

I am, dear sir, very gratefully,
JOHN WELCH,
93 Kneeland street.

The Policeman's Statement.

The above statement is true. I procured the Vegetine for him, and carefully observed his condition from the time he commenced to use it until he was cured.

Vegetine.

SAFE AND SURE.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

In 1872 your Vegetine was recommended to me, and, yielding to the persuasions of a friend, I consented to try it. At the time I was suffering from general debility and nervous prostration, superinduced by overwork and irregular habits. Its wonderful strengthening and curative properties seemed to affect my debilitated system from the first dose, and under its persistent use I rapidly recovered, gaining more than usual health and good feeling. Since then I have not hesitated to give Vegetine my most qualified indorsement as being a safe, sure, and powerful agent in promoting health and restoring the wasted system to new life and energy. Vegetine is the only medicine I use, and as long as I live I never expect to find a better.

Yours truly,
W. H. CLARK,

MISCELLANEOUS.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA,
CHAPEL HILL, Sept. 25, 1877.

To the Trustees, Alumni and friends of the University of North Carolina:

The increasing prosperity of the University has created a need for a medium through which its objects should be made known. To this end the two Literary societies of the University have determined to re-establish the "University Magazine," once an ornament to the University and State.

It is proposed in publishing facts connected with the University to make the Magazine the organ through which the historical incidents of the State may be made known and perpetuated. At present there is in the State no periodical of this kind and the need for one is patent to all.

The contributors of the Magazine will be some of the most prominent and talented gentlemen and ladies of the State. The Societies have elected three editors each, and as soon as a sufficient number of subscribers are obtained the Magazine will be issued.

The price of the Magazine will be $2.50, IN ADVANCE, per year.

Trustees, Alumni and friends, the students of your University call upon you to contribute this small amount to the support of an enterprise, the ends of which are so beneficial.

Those who desire to aid us will please inform us immediately by letter or postal.

Address,
EDITORS UNIVERSITY MAGAZINE,
Chapel Hill, Orange Co., N. C.

State papers friendly to the enterprise will please copy.

GREAT BANKRUPT SALE.

United States District Court—Eastern District of North Carolina.—In the matter of the Bank of North Carolina, bankrupt.

In Bankruptcy.

At the court house door, in Raleigh, N. C., on Monday, November 12, 1877, commencing at 10 o'clock, a. m., I will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, the open book accounts, notes, judgments and other choses in action, the property of THE BANK OF NORTH CAROLINA, in bankruptcy, due from various persons and corporations throughout the State, and amounting in the aggregate to upwards of $200,000. Many of these claims are believed to be valuable, and the debtors will find this to be an excellent opportunity to purchase and settle their debts. Purchasers of judgments will be required to pay the cost of assignment of judgment.

By order of the District Court.

DAILY NEWS.

WEDNESDAY.....OCTOBER 17, 1877.

THE WEEKLY NEWS is the best weekly paper published in North Carolina. It is only ONE DOLLAR per year, postage paid, contains 32 columns of plain printed news from every section of the country, and important advertisements. ALWAYS Cash.

NEWS NOTES.

A Savannah merchant, now in England, has made sixty-seven voyages to Europe.

The Georgia State Fair offers a $200 premium for the best fire company in the State.

The day that New York began to cremate its garbage the Count Johannes moved into Jersey.

Governor "Blue Jeans" Williams of Indiana has more than eight hundred acres of Indian corn on his farm this autumn.

A desperate plot to escape from the St. Louis jail, in which seventy prisoners were concerned, has been detected and thwarted.

"Le Colonel Jerom Bonaparte Patterson" recently represented the French Prince Imperial at the funeral of Count Clary, Aide-de-camp to Napoleon III.

Victor Hugo, say the Parisians, has ready a poem 2,000 lines long, entitled "Le Pape," which poem is not to appear until after the death of Pius IX.

The Comte de Paris, it seems, is still hard at work upon his "History of the American Rebellion," which his translors will hear with anguish is to extend to eight volumes.

Garfield was not so much of a fool and a greenhorn, after all, in leaving the Senatorship to Stanley Matthews, last winter, and obeying the President's request to remain in the House.

The sacred Sabbath concert idea has attained its full development at Terre Haute, Ind., where there is announced a series of "grand sacred dances" for Sunday evenings.

A Canadian woman has walked, accompanied by her two small children, from Montreal to the shrine of Ste. Anne Beaupre, a distance of two hundred miles, in pursuance of a vow made when one of them was sick.

Thomas Servier was recently flogged at Woodstock, Ont., for assault on a young girl. He was quite careless about the matter till the whip was laid on, when his shrieks were terrible. He fainted as the last blow was struck.

Secretary Evarts told a friend the other day—thus records a letter in The Graphic—that he had just received a letter from one of his daughters to this effect: "Dear papa: Thank you kindly for the donkey you sent me, but he's so lonely. Won't you soon be home, papa?"

Within a few miles of the fortunate town of Evansville, Ind., are a three-legged dog, a pet dog with no eyes, a man who is about to marry his daughter-in-law's sister, two other men who have wedded each other's daughters, a young man who has espoused the mother of his deceased wife, and several variations of the Enoch Arden type.

Southern Republicans in Congress.

A Washington correspondent in an interesting letter to the Philadelphia Times says:

Another novel feature of the Forty-fifth Congress will be the weakness of the Southern Republican element and the almost perfect solidity of the Southern delegations. I have not seen Clerk Adam's roll, but will predict that the number of Republicans upon it from old slave States can be counted upon the fingers of one's two hands. There will be two from East Tennessee, two or three from South Carolina, two or three from Louisiana, one from North Carolina, one from Virginia, and two from Missouri. The Missouri and East Tennessee men represent white constituencies and cannot properly be classed with the irresponsible members who come in on the wave of big black majorities. The carpet-bag element in the House will scarcely number half a dozen men—mournful relics of an epoch of fraud, ignorance and venality, which the South has happily lived through. In the Senate there are but four Republicans remaining from the South. Spencer, of Alabama, has two years more to serve, but since the announcement of Haye's policy it might be said of him as of the member of Bret Harte's "Society upon the Stanislaus," who was hit in the stomach with a chunk of old red sandstone, "the subsequent proceedings interested him no more." He will spend a good deal more of the two years in the Black Hills than in Washington, if reports are true. Patterson, of South Carolina, has also two more years of his term. I imagine that he would gladly relinquish their honors and emoluments for a guarantee of immunity from prosecution on account of bribing the Legislature to elect him, and stealing the State's interest in the Blue Ridge Railroad. If he does not vacate his place soon the developments made in the Columbia Courts will oblige the Senate to vacate it by a resolution of expulsion. Dorsey, of Arkansas, holds until 1879. He has grown conservative, it is said, and become a strong Hayes man. Bruce, the colored Senator from Mississippi, who has thus far reputably represented his State and his race, will be undisturbed until 1881. Two years hence he will be the last remaining reminder in the Senate of negro rule in the Southern States.

Almost everybody has forgotten about the blue glass craze, but Dr. Wilkins, of the Napa Insane Asyium, California, says that some of his patients read about it and thought it might benefit them. So he had windows fitted with blue glass for converts to the doctrine, and he has reason to believe that in several cases there was most salutary results. He is careful to say, however, that he feels inclined to attribute this improvement in the condition of the patient to the influence of the mind rather than of the glass.

Dr. R. Beverly Cole, of San Francisco, boasts of an interesting relic in the shape of an onyx snuff-box, lined with gold, and bearing on the lid a wonderful mosaic representing a miniature landscape three inches long and an inch and a half wide, and consisting of nine thousand pieces of stone. The box is said to have been presented by the Empress Josephine to her surgeon, whose grandson in Paris gave it to the present owner.

A CLERGYMAN'S OPINION.—Having had an opportunity to test the excellent qualities of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, I hesitate not to say, it is the best remedy I have ever used in my family.—Rev. Wm. Chapman, Pastor M. E. Church, Georgetown, D. C.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Gov. Hampton of South Carolina will arrive here on a special train to-day at 11 o'clock.

——The tax abstract from the Register of Catawba county, was received at the Auditor's office yesterday.

——Yesterday was a beautiful day; a more beautiful could not be asked for the Fair, if it had not been quite so dusty.

——Wake Thompson, in jail in default of bail on a charge of assault and battery, gave the required bond yesterday and was released from confinement.

——We call attention to the new advertisement of Messrs. W. H. Morris & Co., the old reliable furniture dealers, No. 3, Fayetteville street. Visitors to the Fair will do well to call and see them.

——Every member of Raleigh Light Infantry will meet promptly at Camp Russell this (Wednesday) morning at 10 o'clock. By order Colonel Commanding.

——The receipts of cotton yesterday was rather light—only about three hundred bales—but prices were firm and slightly advanced, closing at about one-eighth higher than Monday.

——The hotels and boarding houses were filling up last night by the arrivals of the trains; to night we presume there will be a jam and private houses will have to be resorted to to accommodate those who can not find quarters elsewhere.

——Remember girls, there are thirty-three thousand, nine hundred and fifty three more women than men in North Carolina, and improve the time during the Fair week that you may not be one of the nearly thirty-four thousand who are destined to die old maids.

General Orders, N. C. S. G.

The following general orders have been issued:

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS,
North Carolina State Guard:
CAMP RUSSELL, RALEIGH, Oct. 17.
General Orders No. 12.

I. The following hours are prescribed during the present encampment:

Reveille, 6:30, A. M.; Guard mounting, 8 A. M.; Battalion drill, 9 A. M.; Retreat, 6 P. M.; Tattoo, 10 P. M.

II. No soldier will be permitted to leave camp without the consent of the commandant of his company.

III. Under no pretense whatever, are arms to be left loaded in quarters. The utmost caution will be exercised respecting fire and lights.

IV. R. H. Bradley is hereby appointed sutler for the camp. The sale of spirituous liquors within barrack limits is strictly forbidden.

V. The corps will parade to-day, in full uniform, for review by the Governor and Commander-in-Chief. Assembly on the parade ground at 10, A. M.

VI. Lieut. Col. B. C. Manly will act as Field Officer of the Day, for to-day.

By order of the Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

JOHNSTONE JONES,
Adjutant General.

GENERAL HEADQ'RS N. C. S. G.,
CAMP RUSSELL,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 17, 1877.

General Orders No. 13:

I. The Anson Veterans are hereby assigned to the Second Battalion as Company K.

II. The Second Battalion, having by the addition of Company K. reached the full complement of aregiment, will hereafter be known as the First Regiment of Infantry, N. C. S. G.

III. The commissioned officers of the First Regiment, above constituted, will meet at Camp Russell on to-morrow (Thursday) at 9:30 A. M., and elect a Colonel, and Major, Major Harris having resigned.

IV. The meeting will be governed in its proceedings by the provisions of the Act for the establishment of the North Carolina State Guard.

By order of the Governor and Commander-in-chief:

JOHNSTONE JONES,
Adjutant-General.

Tucker Hall.

The Rose and Harry Watkins troupe appeared in the beautiful and thrilling dramatic romance of Kathleen Mavourneen at Tucker Hall before a pretty full house last night. The old favorites and the new—the petite Amy Lee—and the entire company, succeeded in truthfully presenting the characters they severally represented. The ballads of Miss Amy (why don't she spell it Amie?) were encored and she met the unbounded applause of the audience with admirable self-possession.

Mr. Boyd, the Manager, in presenting this star company to the Raleigh public "fills the bill" for Fair week and we have no doubt the crowds to hear them will continue to increase as long as they stay. They appear again to-night, go and hear them.

To-night Hidden Hand will be produced, and we know it will draw a big house for it is a great favorite with the Raleigh people.

THE STATE GUARD.

Grand Military Display.

The citizen-soldiery of our State made their appearance yesterday, as ordered, for encampment.

The First Battalion under command of Lt. Col. B. C. Manly, was represented by the following commands: Raleigh Light Infantry, Lt. D. W. Bain; Newbern Greys, Capt. Wm. Whitford; Elm City Riflemen, Capt. L. S. Wood; Goldsboro Rifles, Capt. G. S. Campbell; Edgecombe Guards, Capt. J. W. Cotten. The Iredell Blues, Capt. P. C. Carlton, was temporarily assigned to this Battalion. The strength of men present was about 200.

The second Battalion under command of Lt. Colonel M. P. Taylor, composed af the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry, Maj. A. A. McKethan; Lafayette Light Infantry, Capt. J. B. Smith; Wilmington Light Infantry, Capt. W. Coney; Whiting Rifles, Capt. J. W. Gordon; Hornets' Nest Riflemen, Capt. S. S. Pegram, Charlotte Greys, Capt. W. L. Hand; Mecklenburg Riflemen, Capt. J. M. Davis; Polk Rifles, Capt. J. G. Potts, numbered some 250 men. The Anson Guards, Capt. J. G. Branch, of this Battalion were not in line, not having arrived, but reached the city last night at 10 o'clock.

The Cape Fear Light Artillery Capt. H. G. Flanner, and the Raleigh Light Artillery, Capt. A. Beavers were organized as a battalion under the command of Capt. Flanner.

The morning trains were filled with the incoming troops; owing to various causes but few arrived on schedule time. Orders were issued for the formation of the line at the Northern Gate of the Capitol, at 12 o'clock, but owing to the non-arrival of severel companies at that hour, it was after that hour before the troops moved.

Command was assumed by Adjutant General Johnstone Jones, and, as the Governor's escort, the march began. The route was out Hillsboro Avenue to the Fair Grounds. The marching of the command, despite the fatigued condition of the men was admirable.

In addition to the State Guard the Cadets from the Bingham school, Maj. William Bingham commanding, were on the grounds and made a splendid display. In fact the cadets added very materially to the beautiful military display. We shall take occasion to refer to this corps of cadets hereafter. The military display was the great event of the day, and great credit is due the different commanding officers for the admirable manner in which the troops were handled on this occasion.

Fun Alive!

The Combination Minstrel Troupe had a pretty full house at Metropolitan Hall last night and every body that went was pleased. The music was good and the acting gave satisfaction to the audience, while the comic parts were so comical that none could refrain from good shaking laughter.

They will appear again to-night and every night during the Fair. Go and see and hear them. If you go one night you will go the next unless the money gives out. There will be an entire change of programme to night. There is no better company of the kind on the boards.

Convicts for the Penitentiary.

L. H. Harrill, deputy sheriff of Cleaveland county, brought to the penitentiary yesterday one white and four colored convicts, all for larceny. Terms of sentence from one to five years.

W. T. Caho, deputy sheriff of Pamlico, brought three, all colored, one for forgery and two for larceny.

John C. Barnett, sheriff of Person, brought three, all colored and all for larceny—terms from two to five years

Pescud, Lee & Co.

We publish this morning the new advertisement of Messrs. Pescud, Lee & Co., a firm composed of high toned honorable men, largely engaged in the Wholesale and Retail Drug trade. With liberal resources and long experience in the business they are in a position to cater to the wants of their customers and will not fail to give satisfaction to all who deal with them. We could not mention a firm of more estimable gentlemen and straight forward business men. We take pleasure in recommending them to all who wish fair treatment, careful attention and reliable goods.

Ladies Feast.

On Fayetteville street, nearly opposite the Express office, the ladies of Edenton street M. E. Church, will open an eating saloon during the Fair, for the purpose of raising funds for rebuilding their Church. They will keep various kinds of meats, good coffee, cakes, ice cream, and oysters if the weather turns cool enough. They ask a liberal share of the patronage of the citizens and of persons visiting the fair, as their object is to raise money for a commendable purpose.

Commissioner of Affidavits.

We failed to notice the advertisement of Mr. Phil. H. Andrews on its first insertion, in which he announces himself Commissioner of Affidavits for a number of States. Persons having business in his line (see the advertisement) can secure his services by addressing or calling on him.

Flag Presentation.

Immediately after the review of the Military to-day on the Fair Grounds, Col. Kenan, in behalf of the N. C. Agricultural Society, will present to the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry the flag won by them at the last annual fair. R. S. Huske, Esq., will receive the flag, in behalf of the company.

Review of the Military.

The North Carolina State Guard will march to the Fair Grounds at 10 o'clock to-day; and at one o'clock, will be reviewed by Governor Vance, and Governor Hampton. There will be seventeen companies in line. The command will pass the capitol at 10½ o'clock,

SCENES AND CEREMONIES!

The Opening of the Grand Exhibition Yesterday.

TWO THOUSAND PEOPLE IN ATTENDANCE.

GRAND MILITARY DISPLAY

Incidents of the Occasion.

Yesterday was a great and eventful day for the North Carolina Agricultural Society. Never before in its history were the grounds so crowded on opening day. People from every section of the State—indeed, we might say the Union—were in attendance.

At noon the North Carolina State Guard, in brilliant uniforms, under command of Adjutant General Johnstone Jones, escorted His Excellency Gov. Z. B. Vance, Col. A. B. Andrews, of his staff, Col. Thomas M. Holt, President of the Society, and Hon. Joseph M. Wilson, of the United States Department of Agriculture, from our beautiful capitol to the spacious Fair grounds.

In the neighborhood of the grounds everything was bustle, and within the enclosure all was order. There were parades, and work, but the history of the day is told below.

AT THE GROUNDS

Nature was complaisant yesterday. The weather was delightful, and everybody was in a fine humor. The day was devoted to clearing, cleaning and arranging. Exhibitors were busy unpacking and placing their exhibits in position.

At noon the North Carolina State Guard assembled at the capitol, under command of Adjutant General Jones, to escort the Governor and his staff, Col. Thos. M. Holt, President of the society, and Hon. Joseph M. Wilson, to the Fair Grounds. The route was from the north gate of the capitol, up Hillsboro street to the main entrance of the grounds, reaching that point at about 1:30 o'clock P. M., thence to the Grand Stand, where two thousand visitors had assembled to witness the opening of the Exhibition by His Excellency Governor Vance.

AT THE GRAND STAND.

Gov. Vance, accompanied by Col. T. M. Holt, President of the Society; Hon. Joseph M. Wilson, of Washington City; Col. A. B. Andrews, of the Governor's Staff, and Hon. Azariah Graves, ascended the rostrum of the Grand Stand, while the Artillery Battalion fired a salute of twenty-one guns. The Salem Cornet Band performed some of their most choice selections. At 2 o'clock P. M. the President of the Society said: "The seventeenth annual exhibition of the North Carolina Agricultural Society will be opened by His Excellency Gov. Z. B. Vance." [Applause].

THE GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS.

The Governor said:

"Citizens of North Carolina: I greet you with sincere pleasure to-day and welcome you with my whole heart to this annual festival of our people. With slight exceptions the year has been one of unexampled prosperity, and now that the teeming abundance of our fields has so richly rewarded our industry, it is most fitting indeed that our people from the mountains to the sea should meet together on these central plains in sight of the dome of our capitol in social re-union, to exchange congratulations, to strengthen the ties which bind us together as patriots, to renew our hopes for the future by a comparison of experience in our various callings, and to exhibit the products of our labor. Ladies and gentlemen, the 17th annual fair of the State of North Carolina is now open." (Applause.)

The Fair being opened, the next thing in order was the TRIALS OF SPEED—FIRST RACE OF THE DAY AT 2:30 P. M.

This was a half mile heat, which was well contested.

Mr. Dozier entered "Hope."
Mr. Wyche entered "John Dunham."
Mr. Norwood entered "Lillie Ruffin."

"Lillie Ruffin" drew the pole, "John Dunham" the centre and "Hope" the outside. The first start was a failure. The second was an even send off, "Hope" taking the lead and holding it throughout the race, winning in 53¼.

THE SECOND RACE, AT 3 P. M.,

was a spirited one between two thoroughbreds, "Hobkirk," entered by Mr. Hall, and a bay filly by Mr. Gooch. "John Dunham" was entered for the race, but was withdrawn. The first send off was an even one, with "Hobkirk" at the pole. "Hobkirk" kept the lead for the first quarter. At the half-mile pole the bay filly was in the lead. The race for the three-quarter pole was nearly even. The dash for the home stretch was a spirited and well contested run, being almost neck and neck, "Hobkirk" winning the race by a neck in 1:59½.

The first race on the programme for the day was declared off, for the reason that there was but one entry that came up to the requirements of the Society, it being for three-year-olds and under, owned in the State, six months previous to the Fair. There had been three entries for this race, but two of them being over age, the judges declared it off.

The races over, the military were assembled and marching orders were given for Camp Russell. In this connection we take pleasure in making special mention of the excellent music by the New Berne Silver Cornet Band, which accompanied the two military companies from that city. It is really one of the best bands in the State, and our New Berne friends should feel proud of it.

A MESSAGE FROM GOV. HAMPTON.

At 2:30 P. M. the following telegram was received from Gov. Wade Hampton, who is now at the Greenville (S. C.) Fair:

A. B. ANDREWS,
Supt. N. C. R. R.

A special train will leave the city this morning, taking a delegation from the North Carolina Agricultural Society to meet His Excellency, Gov. Hampton. Gov. H. will reach the Fair Grounds at noon.

After the review Gov. Hampton will proceed to Raleigh and take rooms at the Yarborough House. He will remain in the city until 2 o'clock, A. M., Friday.

THE EXHIBITS—POMOLOGICAL DISPLAY.

Those who attended the Centennial last year will remember the display of of apples from North Carolina by Capt. Natt Atkinson of Buncombe county, who received the medal for the finest display of fruit. He promised the people of this State that he would excel that display at the present Fair, and right well has he kept his pledge. Capt. Atkinson, as President, represents the Fruit Growers Association of Buncombe county. This display consists of two hundred varieties of apples, six of pears, six of peaches, almonds, quinces, chesnuts, and persimons. Capt. Atkinson has one Gloria Mundi apple that and a Buff apple that weighs 24 ounces. The greater portion of this display came from Buncombe county, with a few from Haywood and Transylvania.

WEIGHS 32 OUNCES,

The exhibit of fruit from

is represented by J. R. Neill, of Bald Creek township, whose display is simply superb. Mr. Neill has seventy-five varieties of apples, several of pears, three of peaches, quince, walnuts, chestnuts; four varieties of grapes; peanuts and hazel nuts: also fifty varieties of fruit trees, all grown in Yancey county. His largest apple weighs 23½ ounces, and he has five bushels that will average one and a fourth pounds to the apple. This display is very fine, and although from one county only, would do credit to the entire State.

Leaving the mountains, we come to the Piedmont section.

GUILFORD COUNTY

is represented by J. Van Lindley who has 100 varieties of apples, 12 of pears, 12 of peaches, 2 of quinces, and also a beautiful display of dried fruit. This display is excellent and shows that the soil of Guilford is well adapted to fruit.

CHATHAM COUNTY

has 20 varieties of apples, 17 of pears, 3 of peaches, 3 of grapes, 2 of figs, and several varieties of brandies and wines. This display is managed by J. W. Perry, who has displayed great energy in getting up such a fine collection of fruit.

ALAMANCE

shows 200 varieties or more of apples, this display is not completed, and will be noticed herefter.

MACHINERY.

The city of Norfolk is represented by the Virginia Iron Works, Thos. W. Godwin & Co., proprietors, who have on exhibition a six horse power agricultural engine. The main feature claimed for this engine is its perfect spark arrester, and good workmanship. It is a perpendicular boiler and engine, and from its appearance does great credit to the builders. The engine is operated by Messrs. Whitney and Woodard, members of the firm. They also have a corn mill attached to the engine, and will grind without charge for all who desire it.

RALEIGH.

This city is represented by Messrs. McCallum & Cooper, who display an 8-horse power Hore Engine. They claim several advantages over other engines, and have turned out a fine specimen of workmanship for exhibition. They also display a 40-saw cotton gin, worth $140, which they donate to the Society as a special premium. They also exhibit a specimen of finished work in iron and brass that is a fine specimen of workmanship. Robert Smith, one of their workmen, exhibits a specimen of hand riveting that is very superior.

RICHMOND.

This city is represented by Messrs. Talbott & Son and Messrs. W. E. Tanner & Co. For want of space special mention will be deferred until to-morrow.

LIVE STOCK.

In this department the display is well up to the usual standard.

Mr. Jas. Norwood, of Orange county, has on exhibition his magnificent young horse Woodburn Hamiltonian. He is one of the highest bred young trotting stallions in America, being by Belmont, the sire of such good ones as Nil Desperandum, 2:28; Nutwood, 2:26¼, &c. His dam by Rysdikes Hambletonian, sire of Dexter, 2:17¼; Nettie, 2:18, &c.

Amongst other stock animals, Mr. N. has his fine Southdown and Cotswold bucks, "Butcher" and "Jim Fisk."

HOUSEHOLD SUPPLIES.

In this department we observed a large number of exhibits from various sections of the State—some superior to any previous fair. While we have'nt the space this morning to notice all the exhibits in this department, we are pleased to mention the displays by Capt. T. A. Granger of Wayne county and Mr. James Norwood of Orange county. The exhibits by Capt. Granger are very meritorious. He shows fine specimens of wheat, rye, oats, peas, corn, turnips, &c. He also, exhibits for James F. Jones, Esq., of Greene county a barrel of family flour manufactured from North Carolina wheat at the mills of Mr. Jones. We examined the Flour and do not hesitate to pronounce it equal to the best family flour manufactured in the city of Baltimore. Mr. Jones will visit the fair on Thursday and will be pleased to receive orders for his excellant flour.

THE GENERAL EXHIBITION HALL.

In this building, of course, the assemblage was greatest, and at various points in this structure people were concentrated in masses about centres of interest This was particularly the case in the department of fine arts, ladies' work, &c. We noticed a handsome display of fancy work, crotchet, shawls and infants' socks, exhibited by Miss Engelhard. This display was particularly attractive.

By Miss Hodge, of Wake county, worsted and silk ottamons, very handsome. By Miss Partridge, of Raleigh, a large collection of beautiful paintings and fancy works. Mrs. Jesse J. Yeates of Murfreesboro' has a beautiful collection of fancy articles, paintings and wax work by the Baptist school of that place. Mrs. Mary Gregory of Oxford, shows a beautiful hearth rug, homemade. Mrs. Cowan, of Pittsboro' exhibits dried grasses. Mrs. Page, of Raleigh, a very pretty bracket of native grasses. Miss Cowan of Pittsboro', a box of beautiful fancy work, consisting of worsted and silk embroidery, tidys, mats, &c. From the Asylum for the Insane a large display of work sent by the unfortunate inmates. We notice a number of Indian curiosities, very attractive. Miss Howard, of Salisbury exhibits a beautiful bed quilt. By Mr. W. C. Warren, of Murfreesboro'. The crown of thorns composed of five hundred pieces.

THE SCHOOLS.

The large ond splendid display of paintings, &c., by Salem Female school, Peace Institute, Raleigh, and Raleigh Female Seminary are very attractive. We shall notice each of these exhibits at some length to-morrow.

Peace Institute makes a very large exhibition of oil paintings and crayon drawings.

Many of them were not hung, but we noticed one attractive group near the entrance to the rotunda; the two horses heads being the centre, and drawn with effect. Also the protraits of Col. Holt and Mr. Burwell, the work of two pupils, must attract attention. A "Head of Mercury" stands out from its black groundwork enough to charm even the heart of a sculptor, making more noticeable of the delicacy of execution and soft shading.

Among the paintings two small ones gave the writer more pleasure than the larger and more showy pictures. A "FruitPiece" and a "Sea View" are little beauties. Some panels from nature that show real study, and give more proof that our Southern woods and fields abound in choice selections of beauty and grace. If anything further is needed to establish this claim, a look at the fine specimens presented by Prof. Kerr, arranged just opposite will convince the most stubborn skeptic.

From St. Mary's School we observe a fine portrait of the late Dr. Aldert Smedes, by Miss Norton. We believe this is the only exhibit by this excellent institution.

Meeting of the Society.

A meeting of the North Carolina Agricultural Society was held last night in the Commons Hall, President Holt in the chair.

On motion of Col. Heck the address of the Hon. Joseph M. Wilson, Chief of the Bureau of Statistics of the United States, was postponed until to-morrow evening.

An able and interesting discussion on the subject of the best mode of improving impoverished lands, was participated in by Hon. Kemp. B. Battle, Col. Heck, Prof. Kerr, and Dr. McCallum, of Wake, Capt. Thigpen, of Edgecombe, and Maj. Evans, of Cumberland. The opinion seemed to prevail that peas for sandy soil and clover for red, was the cheapest and best fertilizer for North Carolina lands. During the discussion Capt. Thigpen stated that one reason why our people were poor, was that our finances were in such a deplorable condition, that it repelled capital and immigration from the State, and that the farmer could not reach the full measure of prosperity, which he ought to reach—until our finances and the means of transporting the products of the farm were greatly improved. He stated that the display of apples at the present State Fair exceeded anything he had ever witnessed, not excepting the exhibition at the Centennial, and yet he thought if he ordered a barrel of apples from the Western part of the State, if they did not rot in the delay of transportation, the freights charged would amount to four times the value of the articles shipped.

Dr. McCallum objected to the plea of poverty made by Capt. Thigpen, and drew a parallel from his own observations between the farmers of New York, Pennsylvania and North Carolina, and gave illustrations of large and small farmers of each section, and thought that the poverty, was due principally to the misdirected efforts of the farmer, and that the great want in the North Carolina farmer was more brains.

Col. Polk. informed the meeting that the Hon. Joseph M. Wilson, was in the Hall and that he be requested to address the meeting. Whereupon Mr. Wilson stated that he had listened to the discussion with much interest, and that the object of his visit to the State, was to confer with the Agricultural Department and through it with the farmers to get all the information he could, on the subject of farming, statistics, &c., to be reported to the Department at Washington, which would probably be published, and requested the gentlemen present to confer with, and aid him in his design.

Gen. Clingman was requested to address the meeting but declined to enter into the discussion, but stated, that from his observation of Western North Carolina the people had recuperated from the devastations of war, very rapidly, and that now they were in better condition than they were in 1860, and that the future was full of hope.

The Secretary announced that the following gentlemen would address the Society during its sessions of the week.

Hon. Jno. M. Wilson, the Commissioner of Agriculture of Ontario; Professors Simonds & Read of the University; Dr. Craven of Trinity College, and Prof. Ledoux, chemist Board of Agriculture.

On motion of Dr. Grissom the meeting adjourned until 7½ P. M. to-morrow.

Special Notice to Visitors.

Mr. R. P. Howell will occupy the Star Dining Room on first floor of the Grand Stand, at the Fair next week. He has made extensive arrangements to accommodate visitors. The BILL OF FARE cannot be surpassed. Prices will be made to suit the times. *

Important Information for Visitors to the Fair.

Mr. Mosely, of this city has rented the large dining rooms on 3rd Floor of the Grand Stand at the Fair Grounds for the great exhibition next week. Mr. Mosely is favorably known to thousands of visitors to previous fairs. His rooms are handsomely fitted up, and delightfully situated. None but the best cooks are employed—and his BILL OF FARE will compete in every particular. Meals will be served in every style—oysters, barbacue, chickens, turkeys, &c., in great abundance, and at reasonable prices.

It Pays To Do Right

Is a saying as applicable to the COAL DEALER as to any. To assure ourselves that we were dealing rightly with our patrons we purchased a set of Fairbanks Scales' with which to weigh our coal. Easy consciences and a largely increased business is our pay. G. W. Carpenter & Co. *

It gives me pleasure to announce that I can offer to an impartial public, goods at prices that have never yet been eclipsed in the city of Raleigh. My stock is the largest I have ever had—and I can assure my friends that I can satisfy them in all things in my line, as to quality, quantity and price. Live and let live. A. CREECH. *

Smoke Ziegler's Cigars.

If you want a good smoke get one of Ziegler's Prize Medal, Triple Crown, Legal Tender, Reina Victoria and other favorite brands. Ziegler also has a large stock of Meerschaum pipes, cigar holders, and all kinds of smokers. Give him a call. *

Fresh Atmore's mince meat and fresh cocoanuts, at M. GRAUSMAN'S. *

Zacharias & Co., 40 Fayetteville St., sell Clothing, Hats, Boots, Shoes, &c., cheaper than any house in the State. The best unlaundried white shirt in the world for $1. *

Don't You Want One?

Some of the most desirable houses and lots in the City for sale. Also a lot of good farms near the city and a few Mills and Tan Yards. E. G. Brown. *

If our country merchants will visit Brewster's or write for prices they will find where to buy goods at bottom prices. It seems to us after pricing Brewster's goods that we have been paying fancy prices for all hardware and house furnishing goods. *

The Gloomy Dyspeptic will find the latest and most approved antidotes constantly on hand at Wm. Simpson's Drug Store, Fayetteville Street. *

Call at M. Grausmans' Store for Fresh Atmore Mince Meat, Cocoanuts, Wilson Crackers, Ferriss's Hams and Breakfast Meats, Bologne and Frankfuster Sausage. *

If you want groceries of any kind go to D. T. Johnson's. If you have any cotton, corn, oats, chickens, eggs, or any kind of produce to sell send it to him, he will sell for the highest prices and make prompt returns. Give him a trial. *
